Business and the Kingdom: Integrating faith and work

Our work takes the biggest share of our energy and time, while worship expresses our heart and soul. The bible has the same root word for both. If our work and worship aren't aligned, we serve different masters and our lives become disintegrated. When aligned they bring purpose, energy and joy. This year has been unexpected, frustrating and even destructive for many; it opens challenges for us all.

Saturday 7th November 2020

9.30 for 10am - 4pm

£35 each / £55 for two tickets

Online via Zoom

This conference is an opportunity to pause and reflect on what God is saying; to check we are on His course; and to ensure that our work and worship are aligned in values and purpose, so that we become fruitful in building His Kingdom in His world.

Featuring keynote talks from Joelle Warren and Ben Woollard, interactive workshops, discussion, support, prayer and networking.

Help and queries

Full details of workshop selection and how to access the conference will be sent following booking.

If you have any queries please contact Karen Williams on karen@thinkfaith.net.

Joelle Warren is Executive Chair and Founding Partner of the executive search firm, Warren Partners and Her Majesty's Vice Lord-Lieutenant for Cheshire. Her business philosophy includes treating others as she wants to be treated and bringing God into all areas of work.

Ben Woollard is a southerner who emigrated to Sheffield with his family. He built and sold his award-winning recruitment business before he hit 30, and is now CEO of Together for Sheffield and a Director of FiveandCo. He's passionate about the church, in all its variety, being a driver for transformation.
